Ph.D. Candidacy Procedure Completion Notice

Each student in a Clarkson University doctoral program must complete the candidacy procedure within two years after admission to the Ph.D. program. The specific requirements of the procedure or comprehensive exam are defined by each degree program. Programs in the Coulter School of Engineering must include the defense of a research proposal. A student may have two attempts to pass the candidacy procedure. A student who does not complete the candidacy procedure within the time allowed could be dropped from the graduate program.
